About the Agency

The Workplace Gender Equality Agency (WGEA/Agency) is the Australian Government's key agency charged with promoting and improving gender equality for both women and men in Australian workplaces, including through the provision of advice and assistance to employers and the assessment and measurement of workplace gender data. The Agency is established by the Workplace Gender Equality Act 2012 (Act).

The Agency has two distinct functions: a regulator and influencer. In its regulatory role, the Agency administers the Act which requires all private sector employers with 100 or more employees to report against six gender equality indicators, which have been developed to address the most pressing contemporary challenges to gender equality in Australian workplaces.

As an influencer the Agency seeks to educate and influence positive change in Australian workplaces by promoting informed, evidence-based public discussion and understanding of gender equality, collaborating strategically to build strong relationships between the Agency and its stakeholders, using the Agency's data-rich research to position it as the leading source of information and advice on workplace gender equality issues.
